STRIKE ON HAWAII.

that the present week will witness a general movement back to the plantations. The contract planters are not feeling particular dismay and it is impossible for the strike fund to reimburse them.

Quiet at Kahuku.

At Kahuku everything is quiet. The fifty men have been discharged and the general work of the plantation is being carried on in the hands of laborers other than Japanese.

Cocks Assembled.

When the Japanese took off at the home Asylum they paid off on Saturday. He was asked how much he intended to contribute to the strike fund. In response he laid out three dollars, indicating that his share was three dollars.

This gives some indication of the movements that are being made at the plantation. The Japanese are not going to the plantations and the only Japanese man employed at the Asylum. The agents of the Asylum are going about collecting what they can from the Japanese servants. Some point that they are getting very little, and others say they get a very fair amount in the first round but not in the second.

$23.10 Per Month.

Exposure of the false statements in which the High Wage Association have based their campaign continues. E. D. Taylor, proprietor of the Asylum, has given out a statement in which he shows that the average wages paid the Japanese of his plantation during the twelve months of 1908 was $23.10 a month in addition to rice, fuel, rice house and rice medical attendance. This puts another nail in the coffin of the eighteen dollar a month cry. (Continued on page 2)
